1. THE WEATHER MAN

They say that the British love talking about the weather. For other nationalities this can be a banal and boring subject of conversation, something that people talk about when they have nothing else to say to each other. And yet the weather is a very important part of our lives. That at least southwest of England. Here employees – and computers – supply weather forecasts for much of the world.

Speak Up. Ano XXIII, no 275.

Ao conversar sobre a previsão do tempo, o texto mostra:

- o aborrecimento do cidadão britânico ao falar sobre banalidades.
- a falta de ter o que falar em situações de avaliação de línguas.
- a importância de se entender sobre meteorologia para falar inglês.
- as diferenças e as particularidades culturais no uso de uma língua.
- o conflito entre diferentes ideias e opiniões ao se comunicar em inglês.

Text 1

A deluxe room at the luxurious Snake River Lodge & Spa, in Jackson, typically goes for $385 a night, but it can be reserved for $192 this fall. The agreement: in order to qualify for the discount, travelers must agree to spend a portion of their vacation moving barbed wire fences from one place to another so local wildlife can walk more freely.

These days, it seems that almost every travel organization — from tour companies to luxury resorts — has a volunteer component, whether it is tracking iguanas on Grand Cayman or distributing food at soup kitchens in Moscow. You can even customize your trip, making it suitable for your interest, while staying at fashionable resorts. Hands Up Holidays combines luxury travel with “a taste of volunteering” through specially programmed volunteer vacations in 26 countries according to your individual skills, ranging from building classrooms while staying in Morocco to helping preserve birds in New Zealand.

Be Active and Give Back

Play it Forward Adventures combines volunteerism with active outdoor adventure making every vacation a personal, all-encompassing experience.

Volunteer. Build desks for school children in Thailand, read stories to orphans in Kenya, or construct a home for a family in Guatemala. Opportunities to volunteer are endless and the needs around the world are abundant. One person can make a difference.

Explore. Treat yourself to active, outdoor adventures that will leave you feeling invigorated. Mountain bike through corn fields, conquer a volcano, or kayak untapped waters. Wherever our adventures take you, we promise an open air approach.

Connect. Connect with yourself or a loved one when you step away from the comforts of home to experience something new and different. Share special moments with locals and like-minded travelers making memories that will last you a lifetime.

Time to reflect and relax is built in to every tour making each experience as much rejuvenating as it is rewarding.

Play it forward on your next vacation getaway!
